

The Power of Silver

Colloidal Silver is a very old anti-bacterial, anti-fungus and anti-virus remedy. Already long ago, silver was used as a workable remedy against threats of infections and decay. Drinking from silver cups and eating with silver cutlery was not only a luxury, it was mainly a protection against infection!

In space technology, Colloidal Silver is used to disinfect water. These are all reasons to consider the use of silver as an infection remedy, moreover because silver does not generate any side-effects.

Colloidal Silver is used to prevent and handle infections coming from bacteria, fungi and viruses such as abscesses, periapical infections, periodontal infections, periimplantitis and as a preventative when placing implants.

Viral infections such as common colds and herpes can also be successfully treated with Colloidal Silver, as well as fungi of the mouth and irritations on the tongue.

